

THE HAUNTED HUNT BEGINS

Wander wisely through the webs and whispers...
Wishing you thrills, chills, and a frightfully fun hunt!

HAND YOUR HUNTERS THIS CARD TO GET THEM STARTED

WELCOME FRIENDS

Are you ready for some fun?

Let's get started with

- Hint Number 1 -

I rarely welcome guests or cheer,
But someone crept in and left clues here.

Look by the place you come and go—

I'd rather they didn't,

but even so.

HINT NUMBER 2

Cold and quiet, sealed up tight,
Where snacks go missing late at night.

You'll find your next hint

(or a ghostly chill),

Behind the milk, if you have the will.

HINT NUMBER 3

I gaze into this glassy trap,

To check if I've become a bat.

It shows the truth, or so they say—

Now check it close and don't delay.

HINT NUMBER 4

Enid reads for fun. I read for dread.

My favorite stories end with the dead.

Among the pages, tucked in tight,

A whisper waits without the light.

HINT NUMBER 5

Some dare to nap, some dare to dream,

I dare to hide things under the seam.

Dig through the cushions, soft and deep

Just hope whatever's there...

HINT NUMBER 6

Flames of hell or dinner prep?
It's all the same with one misstep.

Peek inside—but do beware,
Something waits in heated air.

THE HAUNTED HUNT BEGINS

Wander wisely through the webs and whispers...
Wishing you thrills, chills, and a frightfully fun hunt!

HINT NUMBER 7

Where socks go missing, never found,
A vortex in this laundry mound.
A clue lies buried, dark and small—
The bravest seek it. Not all will.

HINT NUMBER 8

Enid's got style, her closet's a show.
Mine's just black—
and three shades of woe.
Within this dark and quiet place,
A riddle waits, with eerie grace.

HINT NUMBER 9

Beneath the table, low and still,
The dust collects against its will.
Crawl if you must, stoop if you dare—
But something spooky's hiding there.

HINT NUMBER 10

Sleep is for the weak, I've heard,
I lie awake with every bird.
Look where heads are meant to rest,
Though nightmares sleep there at their best.

HINT NUMBER 11

Bubbles, baths, and scented soaps?
I have none of those cheerful hopes.
This porcelain tomb holds your next find
Unless the spirits changed their mind.

HINT NUMBER 12

Step with purpose, step with dread,
Footwear leads the living... and the dead.
Check inside the darkest pair,
A clue may rest within your wear.

THE HAUNTED HUNT BEGINS

Wander wisely through the webs and whispers...
Wishing you thrills, chills, and a frightfully fun hunt!

HINT NUMBER 13

Sharp and shiny, cold and clean,
I find the knives quite... serene.
Among the forks, or near the blade,
A hidden message has been laid.

HINT NUMBER 14

I never eat with joy or glee,
But clues might lurk beneath your knee.
Look beneath where people dine,
You'll find a hint—perhaps a sign.

*Place Treasure Under a Bed*

HINT NUMBER 15

Beneath the place where dreamers lie,
Is where the monsters like to spy.
It's dark, it's dusty, rarely seen—
The perfect home for something keen.
If you dare to duck your head,
You'll find your prize beneath a bed.

SINISTER SUCCESS

Congratulations, curious souls. You followed the clues with grim determination and unearthed your prize
—how wonderfully morbid of you
